Thank you for your interest in supporting the AIA California Healthcare Facilities Forum, a symposium of over 180 healthcare industry leaders and designers within California and throughout the United States. Many forces are driving change in the design and construction of healthcare facilities. From the realization we're not aging the same way previous generations have, to the explosion of medical technology which has led to myriad lifesaving and life-enhancing inventions, strengthened demands for better serve mental health patients, this Forum will examine how these factors are influencing healthcare development. We will also examine how innovations in the design and construction industry – technology, project delivery, and a changing regulatory environment is impacting the future delivery of healthcare in California. Your support of this important event will be seen by decision makers throughout California.
